

PRIVACY STATEMENT

We are committed to respecting the privacy of visitors to any of our websites. The guidelines below explain some of the steps we have taken to protect the privacy of visitors.

PRIVACY AND PERSONAL INFORMATION

We protect the identity of visitors to our site by limiting the collection of personal information. For certain promotions and to access certain features, we may request a voluntary submission of information such as name, e-mail address, city, and age. All personally identifying information collected through our website is used by us to process and manage subscriptions, track site usage patterns and statistics, or to deliver services through the site; such information may also be used by the company for market research or for prize or information-request fulfillment unless otherwise indicated. Such information will not be provided to any third-party without your consent.